Pike Fishing

KEEP ALL PIKE YOU CATCH

Pike fishing starts again at Staunton Harold Reservoir on Sunday. A public water supply reservoir owned by Severn- Trent Water Authority. Staunton Harold is a popular summer coarse fishery. It was opened up for the first time for pike fishing in February last year. Day tickets. available only to anglers over 14, cost 40p and will be issued from the Melbourne Arms, Ashby Road. Melbourne. close to the Windmill car park and the reservoir, during licensing hours. The maximum number of tickets that will be issued on any one day is 40. Pike fishing, which is from a limited bank area, will continue to the end of the coarse fishing season on March 14. Because a survey has shown that the water is overstocked with pike, anglers are being asked to retain all they catch.
